Synopsis

At some point in our lives, most of us will live paycheck to paycheck. Whether it is as a young person, a new family household, or during a pandemic, we will go through this phase. How we decide to act during this stage of life is what will make or break our future. I lived paycheck to paycheck early in my military career. There just wasn't a lot of money going around. Over the years, I have learned the words "passive income" and started to build rents, royalties, and dividends. Starting my business, a blog, and releasing books, has opened my eyes to the potential of creating multiple streams of income. Are you tired of living paycheck to paycheck? Do you wish you could just write an article and money would flow into your account? How about producing a video about something you love and receiving payment from adoring fans? All of this is possible by starting a content-focused business. There is a lot to unpack here, so jump inside and be ready to put on your thinking caps. Thank you and Enjoy!
